Family of Ohioan in War Drama

Ohioan in War Exploit Is Kin of Marion Co. Man

Walter Long, purchasing agent at the Osgood Co., yesterday started to read a thrilling account of how an American bomber crew wandered for 45 days in New Guinea's wastelands before reaching safety.

Long said the crew was made up of five men, including a pilot, a navigator, a bombardier, a radio operator, and a mechanic.

Marion and Nation Ready To Observe Memorial Day

First Wartime Observance in 23 Years To Include Parade, Address and Mock Battle.

Marion and the surrounding communities will join in the nationwide observance of Memorial Day tomorrow with exercises in the morning at Marion cemetery where the memorial address will be delivered by Russell M. Wilhelm, Marion attorney, who is a veteran of World War No. 1.

Exercises also have been planned for Saturday or Sunday in other towns, of this and adjoining counties.

The exercises this year will mark the city's first observance of Memorial day without a veteran of the Civil war living in the city or county.

Marion's observance will begin at 10 a. m. when a parade, headed by Colonel T. E. Andrews as president of the day, will move to the Marion cemetery. Taking part in the parade will be the Harding High school band, Eagles band, city police and firemen, patriotic organizations, public and parochial schools, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Girl Reserves, Red Cross and other bodies.

George T. Geran will serve as grand marshal. The exercises at the cemetery will be held upon the arrival of the marchers and the setting of the veterans' organizations which will be done in the following order: Civil War veteran auxiliaries, Spanish-American War veterans and auxiliaries, World War veterans and auxiliaries.

Should the weather be inclement the exercises will be held in Epworth Methodist church.

Saturday Night Program
The present conflict will be brought to the minds of the citizenry with the staging of a mock battle by the Marion Rifles at 7:15 p. m. at the Harding stadium, under the direction of the commander of the civilian military training program, George D. Hildebrandt.

A special invitation to attend the demonstration at the stadium is being extended to parents of men in all branches of the armed services and to all men and women connected with every phase of the Scioto Ordnance Plant construction.

Parents of men in service will be seated in the center of the grandstand and each mother of a man in service will be presented a rose. Members of Bird McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, will serve as ushers and present the roses, gifts from the Marion Rifles.

Masonic Service
Dr. C. E. Turley of Newark, former pastor of Epworth Methodist church, will give the address at the traditional May morning sunrise meeting and pilgrimage to the Harding Memorial of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., Saturday morning. Following the conferring of the Master Mason degree, at 4 a. m. and a memorial service honoring members who have died since last Memorial day, there will be a breakfast followed by the pilgrimage to the Harding tomb.

Practically all business will be suspended, and city and county offices, banks and professional offices will be closed. With the exception of omission of rural deliveries Marion postoffice will operate on the same schedule as other Saturdays. This is being done to avoid an undue accumulation of mail over the Saturday-Sunday holiday.

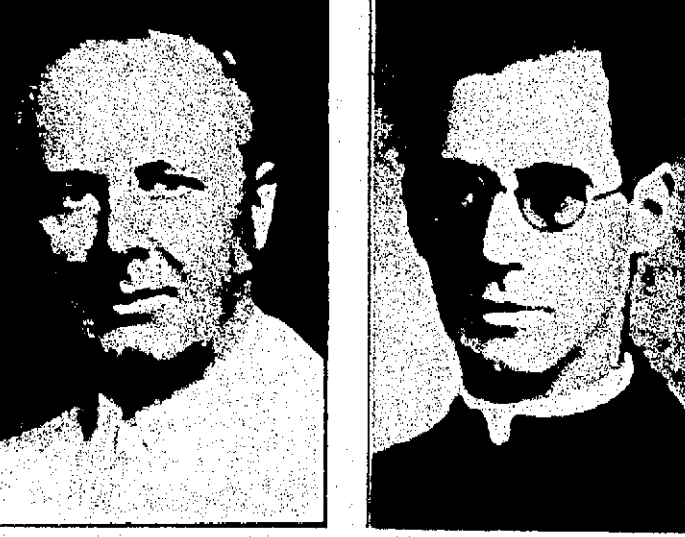

In accordance with presidential order, the Marion field office of the Social Security Board will be open on Saturday, the usual hours from 9:30 to 12:30 p. m. Ray V. Haring, manager of the Marion field office, said.

While no exercises are planned for Marion's Pioneer cemetery, the burial plot contains the graves of many of the oldest residents of the community, and visitors to the spot will find much of interest. There are many beautiful blooming flowers and shrubs and the walks afford ample space for touring the grounds. Addison Bain will be at the cemetery both Saturday and Sunday and will answer questions regarding the graves. Entrance to the cemetery, which is on Quarry street, may be made from the south, north and west sides, and there is ample parking space, Mr. Bain states.

In Other Communities
At Prospect the American Legion and a band will form a parade at 1 p. m. Saturday and march to the cemetery for special services.

The exercises at Caledonia will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. with Floyd Hartpence, commander of the Ohio Department of the American Legion, of Westerville, as the speaker. Commander Hartpence is a native of Mt. Gilead.

Marion Commencement Speakers

Above are speakers for the commencement exercises to be held by Harding High school and St. Mary Parochial High school. Dr. Fehstein, dean of the college of education at the University of Cincinnati, will deliver the address at the Harding High commencement tonight at 8:15 in the Chautauqua pavilion. Rev. Von Kaelen will be the speaker for the commencement exercises of St. Mary Parochial High school Sunday at 4 p. m. in St. Mary church. Rev. Von Kaelen, who is the son of John Von Kaelen of 340 East Center street, is an alumnus of St. Mary High school, graduating in 1919. For the last one and one-half years he has served as pastor of Sacred Heart church at Dayton.

An account of Harding class day exercises and plans for the St. Mary commencement program may be found in stories on Page 13.

PANZER UNIT REPULSED IN DESERT BATTLE

American War Planes Used To Break Advance of Big German Tank Column.

British desert fighters, heavily supported by American-built Kittyhawks and Boston bombers, threw back a German panzer column today after it had killed 50 miles inside the British defense system in North Africa.

Front-line dispatches said violent tank battles raged in a 30-mile-wide belt between Sidi Rezag and Ain El Gazala.

A British communiqué acknowledged that axis forces had driven within 15 miles of historic Tobruk as German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel thing massive tank forces into the struggle—as many as 250 in a single column—and hacked at Tobruk's immediate defenses at many points.

The British declared, however, that no fixed British land positions had been captured yet in the three-day-old battle.

Free French in Battle
Free French troops, fighting with the British, were credited with destroying 35 Italian tanks in a single engagement.

American-made tanks manned by the British were reported inflicting heavy losses on axis armored forces attempting to knock out Tobruk as a prelude to a drive into Egypt.

An RAF communiqué indicated British warplanes already had won preliminary superiority in the air, declaring axis air activity was on a reduced scale while RAF planes constantly roared over the battlefield.

A single formation of American-built Kittyhawks was credited with destroying more than 65 axis supply trucks, while American Boston (Douglas) bombers showed increased effectiveness among a concentration of 700 trucks.

British headquarters indicated that the outcome of the new desert battle still was in doubt.

For the first time, Premier Mussolini's high command announced the launching of an axis spring offensive in Libya and asserted that since Wednesday morning the conflict had been developing "in favor of axis troops."

Smash Tank Drive
British headquarters reported British defenders of Tobruk, key city on the shores of the Mediterranean, smashed at least two axis formations and were now engaging massed enemy forces in the vicinity of Knightsbridge, a desert track center, 12 miles south of Acroma.

Acroma lies 10 miles due west of Tobruk. Overhead, British and axis planes clashed in furious dogfights and swept over opposing lines in bombing and machine-gunning attacks.

A British war bulletin said two axis columns had united around Knightsbridge, barely 15 miles below Tobruk, after racing around the British left flank at Bir Hacheim, the "Well of Wisdom," oasis 50 miles southwest of Tobruk.

The British said one of the axis columns thrust directly north in an attempt to reach El Adem, 18 miles south of Tobruk, but was hurled back.

London military sources said Rommel's "main thrust" against the British was a "grand offensive" of 1942, and "must" be expected by the German offensive in southern Russia, striking toward the oil-rich Caucasus from the north.

Chinese Still Hold Kihwa As Jap Troops By-Pass City

Allied Airpower Blasts at Enemy as Chiang's Forces Fight To Halt Invasion.

Allied warplanes were reported to have struck at the Japanese on far-flung battlefronts today while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese armies fought to slay off a tie-up Japanese offensive against Chekiang province on the China east coast.

Countering Japanese claims, the Chinese high command announced that up to dawn yesterday the besieged Chekiang capital, Kihwa, was "still in our hands despite enemy attacks on the previous night."

Japanese field headquarters reported the capture of the key city at 7 a. m. yesterday.

The Chinese command acknowledged that Japanese columns, by-passing Kihwa, had driven 25 miles westward to the railway town of Langyu, where bloody street fighting was reported raging.

At Langyu, 10 miles north of Kihwa, the Japanese were said to have lost 1,000 killed and wounded in a day-long battle in which the invaders launched 10 futile attacks.

Chekiang is important as a potential base for allied aerial attacks on Japan.

Meanwhile, official Washington quarters quoted a Tokyo broadcast by Japan's minister of Justice Iwamura as admitting that Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's spectacular raid on Tokyo and three other great Japanese cities on April 18 "terrorized" the population and threatened public morale.

"It is natural that the people became terrorized, and it is to be feared it will have a serious and unbearable effect upon the peace and order of the country," he was quoted as saying in a speech demanding severe punishment for persons who spread false rumors.

On the Australian front, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that allied airmen shot down four Japanese planes, damaged several others and blasted enemy bases in the islands north of Australia.

A communiqué said United Nations bombers got great fire at an enemy airbase at Rabaul, New Britain, and bombed and shot up a Japanese command post. Other enemy airbases and installations were attacked at Los, New Guinea.

CHONGKING, May 29.—The Chinese high command reported today that "ten more points" on the eastern border of China have been liberated from Japanese control.

BUILDING AND TRUCK DESTROYED BY FIRE

One Company Blaze Causes $12,500 to $15,000 Loss.

A fire which caused an estimated $12,500 to $15,000 damage, destroyed a truck and building owned by the Marion Co. yesterday afternoon.

The flames broke out and ignited a truck which was a new one, and repairs were using a machine to work on the truck. The truck was inside the building, which is a general repair shop, located near the Chesapeake railroad on West Third street.

Flames from West and North streets sped to the scene of the blaze about 4 p. m. They were about to string about 1,200 feet of hose to play on the fire when the building and truck were gutted.

The fire had gutted the building and truck before they could be readied. They worked at the scene for about one and a half hours.

MANY SIGN FOR ORDNANCE JOBS

War Plant Applicants Register at Rate of About 100 a Day.

Men and women are signing up at a rate of about 100 a day for possible employment with the U. S. Rubber Co. when it starts operating the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

The interest shown by prospective workers and the high caliber of the applicants brought expressions of satisfaction today from the office of the commanding officer and the rubber company.

In addition to providing a list of persons available for work, the registration paves the way for some significant studies which the company will launch just as soon as a sizeable file of names has been accumulated.

One is an analysis of where the workers live. On the basis of several hundred registrants, company officials feel they can arrive at such figures as what percentage of workers is likely to come from Marion city, what percentage from an area in a 10-mile radius and the percentage likely to come from a 25-mile radius and so on. Such percentage figures will open the way for a study, first, of housing needs for workers in the city and, second, of the need for transportation facilities.

Private Long has been an occasional visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Long at Green Camp and, prior to their moving to Green Camp five years ago, at their former home in Marion. Mr. and Mrs. Long frequently saw him when they visited relatives at Centerburg.

The last word the Longs had from the filer's immediate family was a neat little birth announcement which arrived about May 3, the day after a son, Robert Lee II, was born to Private Long and Mrs. Long at Centerburg.

Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Long will go to Centerburg, and there will be much to do and talk about. For one thing, they will get their first glimpse of the new son of Private and Mrs. Long, a child born while his father and the six other members of an American bomber crew were suffering many hardships as they wandered through the wastes of New Guinea after their plane had been crippled by gunfire. The 45-day trek through the wastelands was the longest any group of American fliers has made before reaching safety.

Justifiably Proud
Mr. Long is duly proud of his nephew's exploit and is looking forward to the day when he can hear a first-hand account of his experiences. He noted with especial satisfaction that the fliers had achieved their mission before enemy gunfire crippled their plane.

Also at Centerburg tomorrow, Mr. Long will place flowers on his mother's grave—the grave of Private Long's grandmother.

Private Long worked on a farm near Centerburg with his other brothers a few years back, but there were enough brothers to carry on the work without him, so a couple of years before war broke out he went to Wright Field at Dayton and started aviation training.

Gallup Poll Reports On Gas Rationing

IN ITS latest survey of public opinion, the Gallup Poll has questioned representative Americans regarding their views on gasoline rationing. This survey was made in the southern section of the country where rationing has gone into effect and its results are of especial importance in view of the possibility that similar regulations may be extended to the rest of the country.

The Star will introduce the poll to its readers through publication of the report on this question of national concern to virtually everybody. Look for the report in this and succeeding Gallup surveys in

PAY TAX DEDUCTION PROPOSAL DROPPED

Won't Come Before Jan. 1, If at All, Treasury Reports.

There will be no withholding of part of workers' pay checks to create reserves for their use in meeting future income tax payments, at least before next January, Treasury reports.

This word was received today by Elmer J. Schoenlaub, Marion County War Savings Staff chairman, in a letter from Harold H. Bredlow, executive secretary for the War Savings Staff for Ohio.

Mr. Bredlow received the information from the treasury department in Washington.

Consideration of the tax-deduction plan has been postponed indefinitely and "assurance can be given that no legislation on this subject will be effective before January 1, if at all," according to a statement by Harold N. Graves, assistant to the secretary of the treasury.

SCHOOLS CLOSE WEEK EARLIER DUE TO WAR

Public and Parochial Terms Concluded Today.

Marion city public and parochial schools closed today, at least a week earlier than in previous years, under war-saving programs planned by the administrators to meet the government's plea to schools to release young people for home and defense industry jobs.

The government request was met by enrolling spring vacations and other holidays usually given through the school year.

In the case of public schools, the earlier closing also will release faculty members for work in defense industries and offices. However, in both public and parochial schools, the students will return and work for grade work.

NO EDITIONS OF STAR SATURDAY

In accordance with long established custom, The Star will not be published on Saturday, May 30, 1942.

"You're sweet, Joe," she said.
A short while later Joe was helping Daisy out of the car in

While they were talking, Kath-them at the same time.

"Paul's getting his ego fed," said Daisy, shrugging. "He does

"So that's what you call it?" said Joe, annoyed.
"Yes," said Daisy, "that's what

She smiled, and was glad that she had planned such a food lunch earlier that morning.
"You sit here on the porch,"
she said, when she and Paul

"There's company for lunch," she announced to Lizzie as she walked into the kitchen. "And I

For Saturday, May 30 PERMANENTLY AND problems dominate so many activities of this day that it may be set down as doubtful. However, there may be much of a pleasant and productive nature in purely personal and social relations and there is some hope of overcoming adverse conditions by ignoring them for greater values. There may be little to expect from recognition or support from those in high places, although friendly or more intimate ties may spell success.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter contradictory situations, in which problems and perplexities may have to be solved by personal prestige, efficiency and influence rather than business acumen. Some in important positions may be inclined to opposition or antagonism, but the friendship or cordiality may be used to advantage with others. There should be happiness and good comradeship, with festivity and warmth.

A child born on this day should have much ability and efficiency perhaps of an intellectual, professional, cultural or social nature rather than business sagacity.

For Sunday, May 31
SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is a very auspicious one for all manner of social, cultural and affectional activities, with many pleasurable as well as profitable engagements in such connection. But be alert to dangers, losses, theft or disagreeable entanglements while traveling, in correspondence or in money matters.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a happy and prosperous year in all those activities dealing with home, social, artistic and cultural developments or in such forms of business as concern these. In finances, business, writings, travel, agencies there are hazards of loss, theft, fraud and misrepresentation. Much activity and pleasure are seen in the affectional or romantic realm with possible engagements or marriage.

A child born on this day may have a happy and lively social and emotional life, being friendly and magnetic, but his business affairs may be complicated by fraud.

For Monday, June 1
MONDAY'S astrological forecast is rather fruitful and propitious culmination to ambitious projects, after some stubborn obstacles, as well as surprising, sudden and strange circumstances, are cleverly disposed of. This may occur not only by sound judgment, political manipulation and the use of an enhanced magnetic personality, or by personal influence with those in power.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a successful and progressive year by the exercise of sound ideas and judgment as well as tact, finesse and attractive personality, when deceptive, peculiar or fitting situations arise. Strange visions may challenge saricism and shrewd evaluation of difficult problems. In private life there may be a prospect of happiness and realized ambitions.

I sure would serve beautifully.
"Forget Mr. Joe — and serve beautifully just the same."
All that was needed now, Kathleen decided, was some flowers to place in the center of the table.
And while gathering them, she could show Paul Uncle Frank's garden. It was a beautiful spot, and might help to put the actor in a generous mood.
She went back to the porch, and presently she and Paul were walking between rows and among beds of vari-colored blooms. Later Paul watched her place flowers in a colored wicker basket, and thought what a picture she made.
Like the cover of a woman's magazine.

He had been thinking a lot about Ruby Howard since meeting her, and he wanted to get to know her better. There were things about her that still reminded him of the murmuring actress he had known twenty years before.
"We'll go to it," he said.
"I haven't done any barbecuing in a long while. I need to get my hand in."
Kathleen plunged into making plans. Her uncle joined her. Paul listened, interested. Kathleen and her uncle even went so far as to plan to get a pig from the farmer who named all his animals after characters in the Bible.
"Maybe we can barbecue Nebuchadnezzar," Uncle Frank said.
"Or Methusalem!" said Paul.
"I'm afraid he'd be too old!"
said Kathleen.

In high spirits, the three of them ate and talked.
During the next two or three days Kathleen neglected Ye Old Barn Drama House for the farmhouse out near the pond, the piece of property which belonged to her uncle. She wanted to get everything in readiness for her week-end party.
And since neither she nor her uncle had entertained guests out there for a long time, things were in a pretty dusty and unused condition. Her uncle went out with her several times, since he wanted to do some repairing in the vicinity of the little barbecue house.
The barbecue pit needed to have its sides mended, and the trenches had to be cleaned out.
It was fun; it was like old times.
—like the days before Kathleen let her ambitions to become an actress over-shadow everything else.

Tourist Home Registry Suggested for Marion

A traveling man who frequently makes calls in Marion and who was obliged to walk the streets of Marion most of a recent night because hotel rooms were not available has passed along a suggestion that seems to have some merit.
Why not, he asks, have some registry of tourist homes available in Marion for those occasional nights when hotels are filled and late comers find themselves without accommodations?
He thought such a registry would be a handy service if kept available in hotels and posted with the telephone office information operator, police headquarters, the bus station and at taxi company offices.

Sad, Yet Proud

Uncle Sam thinks of all the soldier dead of wars gone by. The faces of the men who fought in the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and World War I pass in review. And on this Memorial Day, soldiers of World War II are added to that parade of heroes.

Americans everywhere feel sadness for the lives lost, but only pride when they think of the justice of the cause for which these soldiers died, and for which they die today. Liberty is the name of that cause. In the past we have recognized the basic truth of Daniel Webster's words,
"God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it." Today we are asked to defend that cause once more. And we will succeed, for what men have done can still be done.

"Sal" is the story of a hard-bitten fruit picker in a small Florida town. Miss Sheridan plays the role of a girl to whom singing and dancing mean about all there is in life.

A gangster thriller and a mystery adventure have been booked for Sunday and Monday by the State. Jack LaRue and Mary Healy are featured in "Hard Guy," which concerns a show-girl extortion ring. Bela Lugosi, ace purveyor of horror roles, is starred in "The Corpse Vanishes."

A return showing of "My Son, My Son," will co-star Brian Aherne and Madeleine Carroll Tuesday and Wednesday. Aherne is cast as the father of a wayward son, "Outlaws of the Cherokee Trail," which reunites the "three musketeers." is scheduled for the same bill.

A Gene Autry-Smiley Burnette western film, "Colorado Sunset," and a Weaver brothers and Elvyn movie, "Mountain Moonlight," will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

The show gives Miss Hayworth

an opportunity to display her singing and dancing ability. Lavish sets and costumes were used to tell this story in technicolor.

The supporting cast includes James Gleason, Phil Silvers, Walter Catlett, Mona Maris and Frank Orth.

Miss Sheridan and Reagan both won considerable acclaim recently for their roles in "Kings Row."

STARS IN "RIO RITA" AT PALACE

Above are Abbott and Costello in a scene from their new comedy, "Rio Rita," which will start Saturday at the Palace.

Popular Comedy Team in Featured Roles at Palace

Abbott and Costello Celebrate 12th Year Together in New Version of "Rio Rita."

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello celebrate their twelfth year together in the new version of the musical comedy "Rio Rita," coming to the Palace Saturday for four days. Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll provide the romance and song. Eros Volusia, Brazilian dancer, makes her screen debut. Patricia Dane, Tom Conway, Arthur Space, Peter Whitney and Dick Rich portray a group of spies highly perturbed by the antics of the starring team.

The story brings the comedians into the action as stowaways in the turtleback of Carroll's sports roadster as he arrives in search of his childhood sweetheart, Rio Rita, played by Miss Grayson. She happens to be the proprietress of a resort hotel.

Abbott and Costello become involved when they raid a basket of what appear to be apples, but in reality are trick radios owned by the spies. Appointed house detectives in the hotel, they dig themselves deeper into trouble. "A Gentleman After Dark," a tale of a daring jewel thief, with Brian Donlevy, Miriam Hopkins and Preston Foster starred, will be shown Wednesday. Foster's three-year-old adopted daughter makes her screen debut. The picture is Miss Hopkins' first in a year and her role is that of a mother who prefers excitement to the care of her daughter. Donlevy plays the title role and Foster plays a detective.

Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea and Brian Donlevy are the star trio in "The Great Man's Lady," which will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

McCrea's 1,000-acre ranch at Moorpark, Calif., is the setting for several of the sequences.

The picture is primarily a romance, although the story is set in the days when the country was young, the days of the great silver rush. It is the romance of a girl of 16 who elopes with a man of 22 and goes west with him to build a city on prairie wastes. There she meets Donlevy whose love for her affects all their lives.

Comedies On Marion Bill

Musical Show Also Included in Week's Theater Program.

Jinx Falkenburg, Joan Woodbury, Joan Davis and the radio team of Brenda and Cobina are in "Sweetheart of the Fleet," the musical show which will be on the Marion screen Sunday and Monday and in a preview tonight. Miss Davis plays a press agent whose chief joy is to help sell the navy recruiting drive.

The other picture on the bill, "Pacific Blackout," features Robert Preston and Martha O'Driscoll in a comedy thriller of adventures in the midst of a madcap raid and practice blackout.

Clever, smart comedy highlights "Design for Scandal," the of the season will be a pleasurable Russell-Walker Pidgeon June 24 at the home of Mrs. Frank Zuck of Windsor street.

Today-Wednesday bill with a melodrama, "Man at Large," featuring Marjorie Weaver and George Keesee in a story of the FBI's spy round-up. Edward Arnold heads the supporting cast of the "Design for Scandal" film, in which Miss Russell plays a woman in judge who hasn't time for romance and Pidgeon is a bustling news photographer who changes her judicial mind.

The latest version of Zane Grey's ever-popular novel, "Riders of the Purple Sage," will be shown Thursday through Saturday. George Montgomery is starred in this action story of the roving days of the six-shooter.

Ken Murray, Harriet Hilliard, Charles Barnet and his orchestra, Winky Manone and his orchestra and the Mit Herby Trio head the cast of the other film on the bill, "Juke Box Jenny."

EPWORTH GROUP MEETS Mrs. B. B. Carter of Girard avenue was hostess Wednesday afternoon to Circle 3, W. S. C. S., of Epworth Methodist church. Mrs. Adam Bauer, in charge of devotions, read a paper, The "Song of Clever, smart comedy highlights "Design for Scandal," the of the season will be a pleasurable Russell-Walker Pidgeon June 24 at the home of Mrs. Frank Zuck of Windsor street.

Errors Cost Tribe Seventh Loss in Eight Starts

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians looked over their shoulders today to find the Detroit Tigers only a game behind them, and reflected especially on their current crop of errors.

The left-hand pitcher of the Detroit broke right-hander, Virgil Trucks, who was the International League's strike-out king last year, had something to do with the Tribe's 8 to 2 defeat yesterday, but so did their habitual misplays.

It was the seventh straight loss for the Indians, and a streak of those seven losses has made them one of the hottest teams in the league. In most cases the errors have been expensive, often costing the game.

Official records have not been Cleveland's only trouble, for along with them have been some weird antics which failed to get into the box score.

In the first inning yesterday for example, Lou Fleming lost Murray Franklin's pop fly in the sun and it went for a single. Then on Doc Cramer's punt toward first, Al Milnar got in the way.

Fleming as the latter tried to tag Cramer. After Barney McCoskey had sacrificed Rudy York had been passed to all the bases. Don Ross fired out. But when Pinky Higgins rolled to Lou Boudreau, Oscar Grimes stopped the relay on an attempted force play and two runs were scored.

Detroit was in command the rest of the way.

The Boston Red Sox came close to being the worst road team in the major leagues and this malady, which has kept them from resembling pennant contenders in the past, now has placed even their first division berth in jeopardy.

The Red Soxers are a first-class outfit at Boston. It's only when they venture away from home that they stumble.

The Cronin clouters were stopped 5-1 by the lowly Washington Senators at the capital last night and now have lost 12 of their last 17 encounters, all but three away from home.

This slump, which contrasts with Boston's feat in winning 14 of its first 21 games while playing mostly at home, has dropped the club within a game of the fifth-place St. Louis Browns.

Joe Gordon of the New York

Yankees extended his current hitting streak to 13 games yesterday, and the champs won a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics. Gordon rapped a single with the bases loaded and the score used in the ninth.

The St. Louis Browns rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to beat the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and gain their sixth victory in seven games. A double by Dick Ferrell knocked in the deciding run.

The Brooklyn Dodgers set down the Boston Braves again 6-4, with Kirby Hodge pitching seven-hit ball and choking off a Boston rally that netted three runs in the ninth, two on a homer by Max West.

The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of this in strengthening their hold on second place in the National League with a 3-2 Cleveland triumph over the faltering Pittsburgh Pirates, who now have lost 11 of their last 19 games.

Big Bill Lee, making a fine comeback this season, achieved his seventh victory by holding the Cincinnati Reds to six hits as the Chicago Cubs forced to a 2-1 triumph in 12 innings. Lee himself knocked in the winning run with a long fly.

The Reds wind up a three-game series with the Cubs today, with either Paul Derringer or Johnny Vander Meer pitching and hoping for some hits from the Reds. Claude Passeau is the Cubs pitcher.

Trio of Stars To End Varsity Careers.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 29.—It was New York university and Leslie MacMittell against Penn State and Barney Ewell today as the 6th annual Intercollegiate A.A.A. track and field championships opened their two-day stand at Triborough stadium.

N.Y.U., defending the outdoor crown it won for the first time last year, was expected to get its stiffest competition from Penn State, which won the ICA indoor championship for the first time last March, but each pinned its title hopes on its sparkling individual stars.

MacMittell and Ewell will be ending their varsity careers along with Big Al Bronx, Georgetown's shotput and discus champ. For three years this trio has been as dependable as the tide. Among them they have won a total of 26 ICA titles.

Ewell is shooting for an unprecedented triple-triple. Unheated in previous outdoor meets, he has won the broad jump and both the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes the past two years.

MacMittell has won 10 individual titles, will be defending his mile and half-mile crown, and will anchor the mile relay team.

ST. MARY TO GRADUATE 41

Rev. Father Von Kaenel To Give Commencement Address Sunday.

(Picture on Page 1)

Rev. Father Robert Von Kaenel of Sacred Heart church in Dayton, a graduate of St. Mary's school in 1919, will return to deliver the commencement address at the graduation service Sunday at 4 p. m. in St. Mary's church.

Forty-one seniors will receive diplomas from the St. Mary's pastor, Rev. Father William J. Spickerman.

The service will open with the seniors entering the church to a Mendelssohn processional march. The student body will sing "Hear of Jesus Hear" by a Sister of St. Joseph.

Father Van Kaenel's address will be followed by the presentation of diplomas and solemn benediction. The student body will sing "Ave Verum" by Elgar, "Tantum Ergo" by Verdi, and "Thanks Be to God" by Dickson. The recessional will be a march by the seniors.

Miss Margaret Ann Luke will be organist for the service. Sunday morning the seniors will be guests of the sophomore class at breakfast in Hotel Harding. They will receive communion at the 7:30 mass and will go to the hotel from the church. Father Spickerman will be a guest at the breakfast.

Marion Soldier Demonstrates He Is Memory Genius

A memory matching that of a trained professional was displayed recently by Private, First Class, John C. Livensparger of Marion, on a post radio show at the air base at Harlingen, Tex.

Private Livensparger, assigned to the Harlingen Gunners school, on the radio show repeated the serial number of any member of one of the organizations at the air base and not only repeated the serial number, but also the full name of the soldier assigned to the identifying number, according to a news report from Harlingen.

A section clerk in the unit personnel office, Livensparger's job calls for entering data on the service records of men in the squadrons. After going over the records once he said he could repeat serial numbers at will. Many of the identifying numbers have eight figures in a series.

A skeptical audience was convinced of his claim during the post radio show when he was put to the test by the announcer.

Private Livensparger is the son of Mrs. Mary Livensparger of 481 Summit street.

DOG WARDEN'S JOB NOT WITHOUT COMPLICATIONS

Evidence Provided by Ullom's Latest Experience.

County Dog Warden Elmer Ullom almost came off second best in an encounter with an innocent looking pooch this week, according to accounts told by his acquaintances.

The dog was just an ordinary mongrel and a puppy besides and was hunted down because it lacked a license. He scored strike one on the warden by crawling under a porch. The warden crawled under, too, nearly got stuck and caught his trousers on a protruding nail while crawling out—but he captured the dog.

He placed the captive in a specially-built, escape-proof pen on the back of his automobile and drove away muttering something about dogs that try to think up new ways of complicating a warden's job.

His face registered considerable consternation when he later stopped the truck, peeked inside the pen but failed to see any trace of the dog. "He opened the door, climbed inside, but still couldn't see any dog. If the pooch had just kept quiet, the game might still be going on, but there was a telltale scratching of claws on a heavy cardboard partition separating the cage from the front of the car. The warden pleaded and coaxed but the dog, which had wriggled behind the partition, wouldn't come out.

Warden Ullom finally had to tear out part of the cardboard partition to recover the animal and place it in the county dog pound.

FOUR CHILDREN DROWN

in Ohio Rivers, Streams

By The Associated Press

Four children drowned in Ohio rivers and streams yesterday. The Muskingum river at Zanesville claimed two of the youngsters.

Richard Hupp, 11, lost his grip while swinging a rope and plunged into the Muskingum river last night. His 12-year-old playmate, Jerry Hemphill, swore Richard was unable to swim, attempted to rescue him. Both were drowned.

Roger Betz, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Betz, stepped from a sandbar and was drowned in a creek near his home near Alliance.

Paul Smith, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Smith, was drowned in a creek near his home near Alliance.

Harding Stadium Scene of Class Day Exercises

First War-Time Program in 24 Years Given in Impressive Setting: More Than 600 Spectators.

The first war-time class day exercises for Harding High school seniors in 24 years were conducted yesterday afternoon at the sun-bathed Harding stadium, beneath the Stars and Stripes floating gently from the tall pole at the north end of the grounds.

The high school officer announced yesterday afternoon that the entire group of 299 candidates for graduation listed last Friday will receive diplomas at the commencement exercises tonight.

The crowd of approximately 600 relatives and friends at yesterday's exercises was brought to a further realization of the significance of the occasion in the addresses by the class presidents, Day Hurst of the seniors, and Keith Williams of the juniors.

Ready for Task. Hurst spoke of "the way to preserve American ideals" and said that "some of us will see military service, all will see a greater task to face than in ordinary times—we all see this challenge and are responding."

The junior class president in mentioning the war spoke of the "grave difficulties" and the need for greater ability and perseverance.

Hurst welcomed the large crowd and said the seniors "are full of hope and eager for further progress along the path of life." He said he spoke with just pride of the class achievements and in speaking of the athletic program and the task of the high school faculty he mentioned the lack of adequate facilities and the ever-worsening condition in the high school. He paid tribute to Super E. E. Holl, Principal O. H. P. Snyder and the faculty.

Williams in responding said the junior class would accept the challenge of the outstanding record of the class of '42.

Favorable Weather. Ideal weather marked the class day exercises. The bright blue of the seniors' caps and gowns contrasted sharply with the vivid green of the grass on the oval as the seniors marched onto the oval and then into the stadium where they occupied seats in the center section.

The Harding band, directed by Homer E. Huffman, instrumental music supervisor, played Zane's "March of the Brave" for the processional.

Flag Raised.

When the seniors were in their places in the stadium the band played the national anthem and the audience rose and stood at salute as the American flag was raised slowly to the top of the pole by Tom Hurst, president of next year's Harding defense council, and Charles Elliott, 1942 sophomore class president and a member of the council. A group of council members distributed to the program and acted as ushers.

Mary Queen went to the speaker's platform, which was equipped with a microphone, and led the seniors in singing their class song.

song, and the recessional, "University Grand March," by Goldman. The audience remained seated while the seniors filed from the stadium.

Grange Announces Memorial Service

Announcement of the grange memorial service to be held June 14 at Marion was made at a meeting of Marion grange Tuesday night. Group singing was led by Miss Rose Mary Weirick and Mrs. Harold Burnside, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jay Holding. Miss Pauline Ridenour, a member of the staff of the county health department, was a guest speaker and gave a talk on home nursing courses and their benefits. At a meeting June 14 there will be a miscellaneous show for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Manning, who were married recently. Mrs. Manning formerly was Miss Winifred Reeder of Kirtland. Miss Ridenour and Miss Ruth Dell Auman of Marion were guests. Louis Peery was the acting master.

Decoration Day

DECORATION DAY is a day to go to Church and hear a service for our war-dead. It's a day to take a long, solemn ride out to the cemetery and place a wreath on the grave of a loved one lost in battle. Decoration Day is a day for a flag, and a band, and a parade in town. It can be something more.

Decoration Day can put us all up to a very full realization of the fact that wars are largely caused by greed, and lust for power, and disregard for the fact that "all men are created equal." It is a day for each of us to rededicate ourselves to faith in that basic American principle. For if we live by that kind of faith, there will never emerge from our midst, that breed of men who become war makers—and to fight whom, in the name of liberty, they did whom we honor today.

Memorial Day

Tomorrow, America pauses to pay tribute to her soldiers who have died.

We are again in a great war to determine whether the principles of freedom upon which this nation was founded can survive against the lust of conquest.

Let us all re-dedicate ourselves and all that we have to the winning of this war. It will be the most fitting tribute we can pay to those who have fought to defend those American principles of freedom.

Changes in Tongue

LIKE THE LIPS, as we said last week, the tongue is a part of the body which we can see every day and I gather a great many people look at it every day as a sort of barometer of general health. I gather this, for one thing, from the emphasis that the movies put on the maneuver; invariably the actor who is playing the part of a frequenter of night clubs is shown arriving in the morning, going to the mirror and sticking out his tongue and looking at it with a look of concern.

The old family doctor used to use the tongue in this way. I culled from an old medical book the suggestion that a "beefy" tongue occurs in chronic inflammation of the bowel or liver; that a "furred" tongue means nervous prostration; if the fur is brown, the condition is grave; light fur means a friction of the stomach; yellow fur means liver derangement. If the tongue is red along the center it means intestinal irritation; if glassy, it is very unfavorable; if it is bright red it indicates gastric inflammation and if it is red and cracked it means kidney trouble. Since these are about all the kinds of tongues there are, if you follow this system and depend on your tongue, you are pretty certain to be suffering from something.

Fortunately all this tongue lore has been given up as misinformation, but to a certain extent the tongue is the mirror of the system. The general conditions in which the tongue shows characteristic changes are the anemia, deficiency diseases and a few general fevers, such as scarlet fever.

"Raw, red tongue, raw red gut" is a colloquialism which indicates that in many of the anemias the digestive tract is disturbed throughout its whole course. Nearly any kind of anemia shows itself in the first part of its course in a sore, red tongue often with little painful blisters on it. As the disease progresses if no treatment is administered, the tongue becomes small and atrophied so that the little papillae are smoothed out.

Vitamin Deficiency Diseases

The vitamin deficiency diseases often show up in the tongue first. This is true, for instance, of pellagra in all of its varieties whether early or full-blown; also in other forms of vitamin B deficiency. The well-known sore tongue of the Southern mountaineer who used to spend the winter eating salt pork, molasses and corn pone was a sample of this.

The underside of the tongue probably shows jaundice before it can be seen in the whites of the eyes or the skin at all. The yellow discoloration of the tongue is the most delicate test of jaundice. A well-known diagnostician has estimated that there are twenty different general conditions of the body which are reflected in the tongue.

But the old, "furred" tongue is really not of any significance at all. I am sorry to disillusion the Hollywood diagnosticians, but

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

Ronald Hears All About Gangsters and Madge Tells Him Jack Bickett Is in Nearby Apartment.

I GAVE Ronald a cold, steady look as he flung out his impassioned accusation. But he had the grace to blush.

"I don't mean that, of course, Auntie Madge," he said. "I know everything possible is being done. But," he reiterated, "she is in terrible danger, isn't she?"

"Yes, Ronald, she is," I said, deciding that swift surgery was best for him.

"That's what's driving me wild," he said, "to know that I'm so helpless."

"You are not helpless," I told him sharply. "And there are many things you can do to help my father in the next few days. But you must become almost an automaton, ready to obey without question any order he gives you. Can you do that?"

"I can, and I will," he said.

"Then I will tell you," I said, "that while Marion is in terrible danger, we are sure that no harm to her is imminent, and valuable new clues are falling into my father's hands every day."

"Tell me, please," he said. "I won't break out again."

"In the first place," I said, "the whole thing is too big for Marion to be involved. She is simply a pawn on a chess board on which so far we can only guess the men and the projected moves."

Lurking Spider

I stopped at that, with a remembrance of the "listening post" in the Lansfield I had discovered. I did not believe that many clues had been uttered even in camouflage language over the hotel telephone but if they had I was sure they were now in the possession of the lurking spider, wherever he might be, who was at the center of that gigantic web, in one corner of which was trapped our hapless Marion.

But there was no use revealing my uneasy suspicion to the frightened by feeling me. Instead, I told him as quickly as possible of my adventure on the train with the gangster who had telephoned his sister Carolyn, and who had tried to secure Marion's letter, of which he must have learned by a tapped telephone in Dalemont. Then I went on to tell of the man who had entered my room at the Lansfield and tried to get the letter from me, almost murdering me in the thwarted attempt. Next I recapitulated the story to which he had paid little attention, of the gangsters who had broken into the Underwood home and wounded Harry Underwood, then finished the account with a story of my journey to the home of Professor Duwell.

Held Incommunicado

"Uncle Dixie saw to it that the collegiate gangster was picked up by state troopers," I said, "and he has been held incommunicado ever since."

"That was the one who telephoned Carolyn, wasn't it?" Ronald asked breathlessly.

"Yes, it was," I answered. "I think you can now put him out of your mind. He never will trouble Carolyn again."

"Thank God for that!" Ronald said fervently. "But, Auntie Madge, you don't think she is infatuated with him, do you?"

"Not now," I said emphatically. "I don't know what her previous feeling toward him may have been, but now I am sure it is only fear."

"I'll choose the truth out of him some time with my bare hands," Ronald said hoarsely. "But go on, please. I'm sorry to have interrupted you."

Tells About Gangsters

"I'm glad you did," I told him. "For that point is now cleared up for you. But you also should know that the gangster who choked me in the hotel, those who came to the Underwood house and these six we have just brought down to New York are all in custody, while other superiors are wondering what has become of them."

"And, I repeat, we are sure nothing will happen to Marion so long as they think they still can get from her information about Jack Bickett's whereabouts."

"But," he said in evident bewilderment, "suppose they find Jack Bickett for themselves?"

"They can't," I told him with smiling assurance.

"Because," I said, Jack Bickett is even now safe from discovery in another apartment of this house. You saw him just now."

Jury Bottleneck

By The Associated Press

TACOMA, Wash.—It looks as if priorities might be required to keep the courts at full production because—there's a bottleneck in jury duty.

Forty-five jurors were summoned for duty. The first group was riddled by discharges—for such reasons as public service and defense jobs—and a score more had to be called.

It was the same story the next day. Federal Judge Lloyd L. Black had to make four jury calls before enough men and women could be found who could serve on a jury without slowing down work in defense industries.
